Gift ideas for the girls!

THERE'S a bit of a stereotype that women are hard to buy for but, considering what's available in the shops for Christmas this year, we don't think that's true.

There are so many different kinds of things you can buy for females in the shops, from new designer fragrances to accessories for a night out to nightwear.

Smellies always go down well with women, particularly those who like to pamper themselves every now and then, and thankfully there are so many gorgeous gift sets out there to choose from you'll be spoilt for choice.

As well as gift sets for bodies, there are lots of gift sets for hair too, which is another thing many women care about – so a new hairdryer or set of products for their tresses will no doubt go down well.

Jewellery is another good option or, failing that, a nice stand or box to keep all their accessories in can make a lovely gift too.

If you're still stuck for ideas, here's just a few suggestions to help get you started.
